YES, THAT'S MY HAND.

AND, YES, IT'S STICKING OUT OF RE-PO, MADELYNE PRYOR'S PERSONAL DEMON COLLECTOR.

AND, YES, THAT'S THE REST OF ME.

CURRENTLY INSIDE THE MOUTH OF SAID DEMON HUNTER.

NOT SUPER PROUD OF IT.

WAIT...

...ARE THINGS GETTING TIGHTER IN HERE?

MUCH, MUCH TIGHTER?

GRUMBL

BURB

I WONDERED WHERE THE DEMONS WENT WHEN RE-PO SWALLOWED THEM...

YAY.

HHHHHHHHHH

NOW I KNOW.

PETER PARKER HAS THE PROPORTIONAL SPEED, STRENGTH, AND AGILITY OF A SPIDER, ADHESIVE FINGERTIPS AND TOES, AND THE UNIQUE PRECOGNITIVE AWARENESS OF DANGER CALLED "SPIDER-SENSE"! AFTER THE TRAGIC DEATH OF HIS UNCLE BEN, PETER PARKER UNDERSTOOD THAT WITH GREAT POWER THERE MUST ALSO COME GREAT RESPONSIBILITY. HE BECAME THE CRIMEFIGHTING SUPER HERO CALLED...

the AMAZING SPIDER-MAN

With the Limbo embassy established in New York City, REK-RAP was free to take his fight against the INSIDIOUS SIX out of Hell and onto the streets. Their epic battles were unfortunately cut short by their fellow demon the REPOSSESSOR devouring the members of the Insidious Six one by one to return them to Limbo under the Goblin Queen's orders. After a few close calls, Rek-Rap noticed suspicious behavior from Re-Po, which put him on the case to uncover the demon's true motives.

Unconvinced Rek-Rap had much of a case, Spider-Man abandoned him, only for Rek-Rap to be devoured by Re-Po himself. But the Web-Whanger may have been onto something even bigger than even he could imagine as Re-Po's collection didn't stop at Rek-Rap and the Insidious Six. Drawn to Spider-Man's secret identity for reasons unknown, Re-Po ransacked Peter's apartment and kidnapped his best friend RANDY ROBERTSON. When Spider-Man went to confront Re-Po and save Randy, he was soon overwhelmed and devoured by Re-Po as well. We never thought this was how Spider-Man would go out...

the AMAZING SPIDER-MAIL

HEY THERE, WEB-HEADS!

So, Spidey made it through after all!!! How about THAT?! Didn't see that one coming, but I'm super glad! So good to have you all back for another issue. We are having a super-hectic week prepping for a Creative Summit and New York Comic Con next week. So I'm going to keep this short and go right into your letters!

Hey, Editorial,

I just wanted to write in to say how much I love Spider-Man. Life usually sucks, but it's nice to know that Spider-Man is always here to help take my mind off daily struggles. This character has been a part of my life for twenty-ish years now, so I wanted to say thank you for continuing the story and making sure we get a filling of Spidey each week and to thank all the writers, artists, and everyone else who touches each book. We love you all and appreciate the effort given by all the talented folks down in the Bullpen.

Yours Truly,
Anthony De Medeiros <3

Thanks for writing in, Anthony! That is super nice of you to say, and we're glad you're having fun on the ASM ride!

Dear Spider-Office,

I've found the run since "What Did Peter Do?" to have its ups and downs. The Tombstone arc I liked quite a bit. Dark Web was certainly not for me (except I do dig Rek-Rap). However, the first two issues of this Sinful Spidey get an A+ from me! I teach literature in high school, and I find this to be well written and complex (not things I must have in a comic, but appreciated when I get it), and the art rocks too. It is Wells' finest by far, here's hoping he sticks the landing. Will this cause Spider-Man not to be trusted by the rest of the Marvel Universe? I do prefer him as a loner and will be looking for consequences to his actions here. It feels like Norman must be the one to take back the sins, but I'm looking for a twist from you guys. Will it be Paul who ends up with Norman's sins? MJ? Rek-Rap? I don't know, but I will be ready for anything from a return of sinful Norman to a sinful Aunt May (Golden Oldie Goblin?). While I've got you here, I would love for you to bring back my best buddy's favorite character--Deb Whitman!

Until then, Make Mine Marvel!

Mark Alford
Hillsborough, North Carolina

Always love hearing from the Deb Whitman contingent! Thanks for writing, Mark, and glad you enjoyed "Spider-Man's First Hunt." Hope this arc fed your Rek-Rap hunger and that you're excited for "Gang War"!

Dear Spidey-Office,

First time writing in after, wow, picking up ULTIMATE SPIDER-MAN #8 off the pharmacy spinner rack as a bouncing 9-year-old boy. Spidey's had his hooks in my noggin for a while now. And I have to say--it's seldom been more fun than right now.

Zeb Wells, JRJR, Ed McGuinness, Scott Hanna, Marcio Menyz, Joe Caramagna, and all the talented guest creatives are giving me a thrill ride to remember. The book feels BIG: big emotions, big stakes, fights, laughs, heartbreak. Even when something doesn't quite connect, I admire the bold swings.

I have, not so long ago, taken ASM off my pull list. It felt too backward-looking, hopelessly self-referential. Now, thanks to the titanic, juicy work of the abovementioned, Peter's barreling headlong into the great unknown. ASM is back to the top of my weekly floppy pile. I crack it open with a smile and put it down with my heart racing.

Keep on keeping on, gang. And thanks!

Alex
Galway, Ireland

P.S.: Anything cooking with SCREWBALL? Love her to bits!

Thanks for writing in all the way from Galway, Alex! I spent a week in Ireland and didn't want to leave. Sadly, the authorities didn't give me the option to stay after what happened (I think it was Albert Banaszak causing problems). Anyway, passing along the praise to the best creative team in the biz, and we'll keep pushing into the future!

Hello, Friendly Neighborhood,

I just finished reading AMAZING SPIDER-MAN #928 with my best friend Sheyla, and we both loved it! I got my love of comics from my father, Dirk Adkins, who was and still is a huge fan of X-Men and the rest of the Marvel cast, but I personally love ASM, and these past few issues have not disappointed!

This storyline is amazing (pun intended) --"Kraven's Last Hunt" is a classic storyline for Spidey, and these issues feel like a perfect sequel! The art is something else. Spidey has always had great art, but these Patrick Gleason issues are beautiful!

Please continue to keep up the great work y'all do and find a way to make time pass faster!!! I'm dying to know how this story continues, and I'm not sure I can wait till next Wednesday!

Spidey made for a very effective villain throughout the story. His dialogue about not caring that Kraven II was not the one who buried him and that he was going to punish him anyway, his maniacal laugh as he hunted Kraven (great lettering by the way!), and his scheme of injecting Kraven II to attract Vermin was truly depraved. Spidey's burial of Kraven II ended the story in a haunting way. I can't wait to see how the rest of this storyline develops.

Wyatt Adkins
KY

Thanks for writing in, Wyatt! It's always a special time when the waiting between issues becomes painful! Super proud that our book is doing that for you. Pat Gleason is indeed amazing, and we hope to have him back soon!

Greetings, Mr. Lowe,

I have been a fan of Spider-Man comics for many years of my life. I can't imagine my life without the AMAZING SPIDER-MAN ongoing anymore. I've always loved this character and looked for the best with him. I'm particularly a giant fan of the decades of AMAZING SPIDER-MAN set before the infamous "One More Day" storyline as I was always a big fan of the relationship and marriage of Peter Parker and Mary Jane Watson, so seeing them get separated was tough for me.

In the year 2018, Peter and MJ got back together, and their time together was really enjoyable and felt like a step in the right direction. Now, however, they're once again broken up, and MJ is dating Paul. With all due respect, it feels as though we're going in a loop of Peter and MJ getting together just to break up. Many fans, including myself, have wanted to see them hopefully get married again in the near future and gain some sort of awareness about the events of "One More Day" as it would provide some nice progression for their characters. Their marriage, to many, showed how much they've grown up together, which fits what felt like the common theme of the first four decades of Spider-Man: that being "growing up." I hope you can take my words into consideration. Thank you for taking the time to read this!

Ahmad Khalaf

Thanks for writing in and for reading, Ahmad. I don't agree that the theme of the first four decades of ASM was "growing up," but you're obviously entitled to your interpretation. I wouldn't hold your breath for "One More Day" to be undone anytime soon. I'll never say never, of course, because life is life.

Wow, way to go, Spider-Team!

I've been excited since I saw the preview cover of black-suit Spidey/Kraven a few months ago, while I was a little late picking up ASM #33...you guys absolutely floored me! As a lapsed/new comic reader, you had me stopping by my local comic shop the very next Wednesday for issue #34! I just finished it, and everyone brought their A-game here and it shows.

Wells, I think this is your best writing of the series thus far! Your Spider-Man run is like The Last Jedi with playing with people's expectations of what people think they want from a Spider-Man story and then going in an opposite direction by providing a fresh new layer over the old! Your desire to shake up the Spider-Man formula, while providing something new, yet staying true to its roots is much appreciated by this longtime Spider-fan. (Friendly JJJ, Osborn redemption, MJ/Paul, Black Cat fling...love it!)

Gleason/Menyz...dang, dudes, this is some of the most cinematic/moody-looking comic panels I've seen in modern comics, you're leaving me so eager to turn the page!

Anyway, first time Marvel write-in here as I just had to express my love of this current arc, keep on THWIPPIN'!

Cheers, from "Almost Heaven" West Virginia!

Gabe IMPACT-WEB Swick

GABE! Thanks for rejoining the rest of us Web-Heads. Your letter was delightful, and I hope the Mountain Mama is treating you well.

Time is up, but before I go, I wanted to just shout out a few things! NEXT WEEK--Zeb (with a little help from Cody Ziglar for a Miles scene) and future superstar JOEY VAZQUEZ serve up a prelude to our big Spidey event of 2023 with AMAZING SPIDER-MAN: GANG WAR FIRST STRIKE #1!!! You DO NOT want to miss it! And then we're back the NEXT week with AMAZING SPIDER-MAN #39, which kicks off "Gang War"!!! JRJR and Scott Hanna rejoin Zeb and Marcio and Joe, and you are all in for a super-criminal cornucopia and the biggest action to ever grace stapled paper!

Keep Thwippin'!
